

In the framework of the Italian Presidency of the Adriatic-Ionian Initiative, established in June 2009, the University of Teramo hosts an International Conference, focused on re-launching university cooperation in the Adriatic Ionian area and its broader Mediterranean context. The objective is to build a point of reference for the entire scientific community of the area, characterized by its Mediterranean projection and by its vocation towards the promotion of integration/development in the entire area. The main Euro-Mediterranean University Centres take part in the Conference. They have decided to launch the search for a common approach aimed towards defining a more integrated framework for cooperation, whilst preserving their respective autonomy.
